

I am commenting because I am a regular K-LOVE listener. It's the station my radio is on 99.9% of the time. I only just gave my heart to Christ a couple of years ago. When I think back to the way that I used to live, I can't help but ask myself, "How did I get through life without Jesus?" I depend on Him for so much now, that I just can't imagine how I got through so many years without knowing Him. I didn't find Him because of so much sin and too many problems, like a lot of people talk about, but I did find Him because of the influence of Christians around me. I have to consider myself blessed because I didn't go through a lot of dark days before I knew Him. That's not to say that I wouldn't have eventually, though.

Anyway, back to talking about saving Christian radio. I listen to K-LOVE a lot. The radio hosts are real people with their own problems. The thing is, if one of their listeners just needs someone to talk to, a shoulder to cry on or even wants to share good news, they encourage them to call. They remind us all the time that they have pastors on call 24/7. The hosts themselves will even talk to the listener, just to be there for their brothers and sisters in Christ. I really hope that you will leave Christian radio just the way it is. There is no other station like K-LOVE. It is very up lifting and many Christians, across the globe, depend on it. We are a tight knit family even though we don't know everyone. We depend on each other, the listeners on their stations and the stations on their listeners. So, please, don't change the way we do things. We have to be free to talk about the way God works in our lives so that others will want to know more about our wonderful, kind, loving, caring, and precious Savior, Jesus Christ.

In His Service,

Rebecca F.
